concerned modern pictures are the last word, for they have reached that same stage in their development that same plays had attained when Shakespeare came along and put the punch in them. The Birth of a Nation, 'The Miracle Man' and "Pollyanna' ought to last. But they can't advance much further in that direction, because we've reached the limit in drawing on literature for a supply of thrills. Of course, new advances can be made in the mechanical end of the movies-the lighting, photography,

At this point the telephone tinkled a call for the Shakespearian scholar, which he answered. Meanwhile Mary chatted of the hard work she had done the last three years and revealed the fact that recently she was ill for five weeks with the "flu."

"We want a little rest here," she said, "for though I love California I see many plays as material for future pictures. Morris Gest, having settled himself in his office following his return from Europe, appounced vesterday the plays of his trip abroad. Among the novelties to be shown are two plays by Gabrielle D'Annunzio, a repertoire of Spanish plays, and a new production by Oscar Asche, called "Mameena," the scenes of which are laid in South Africa, with all the characters native kaffirs.

Mr. Asche, who wrote, produced and starred in "Chu Chin Chow," will come to America in September to supervise the final rehearsals of the new Oriental spectacle, "Mecca," which Comstock and Gest will present at a Broadway theatre to be announced later. Mr. Asche wrote "Mecca" as the successor of "Chu Chin Chow," but the continued success of the Chinese play in London, where it is nearing its fifth year, led to his decision to permit the world's premiere to take place in New York. The new spectacle is in fourteen scenes and requires 400 in fourteen scenes and requires 400
